VOL. XIX MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE, MIDDLEBURY, VT., OCTOBER 4, 1922 No. 2

TWENTY-THREE GAMES ON BASKETBALL SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED TODAY; WESTERN TRIP OPENS IN CLEVELAND DEC. 27

Will Play Western Reserve And St. Ignatius There In First Two Games Of Swing Around Circus

DETROIT U. COMING HERE ON FEB. 24

Regular State Series On Card—Season Ends In Burlington Mar. 3—Six Home Games

Although football is now claiming the undivided and whole-hearted support of the student body, echoes of other sports can be heard faintly resounding about the campus and with the passing of another football season, which will come about all too soon, as the realization of the outcome of the Vermont games lingers with the college, so will creep upon it the prospect of another basketball season, which bids fair, at the present time, to be the most pretentious ever attempted by a Middlebury team.

A schedule of 23 games has been arranged, one of which is a home date yet to be filled. The big feature of the 1922-23 schedule will be a Western trip during the Christmas recess and an unusually promising set of quintets, representing colleges on a par, athletically with Middlebury will be met on the trip. The season will open on Dec. 9, when the Blue and White team will journey across to Hanover to play a game with Dartmouth.

U. V. M. will come to Middlebury on Dec. 14, where once again the two chief rivals of the state will vie with each other for basketball honors. From here the scene of activity for Middlebury will be shifted to Albany where the quintet will meet the team of the New York State Teachers College. The following day the team will continue on their way down the Hudson, playing the Columbia University team the following night.

Play Two Games in Pittsburg

The Western trip is notable in that it contains a double engagement in Cleveland, O., on two successive days and another twin bill at Pittsburg on Jan. 2 and 3. The first game on the trip will be played with Western Reserve on Dec. 27, and on the next day the 'Varsity meets St. Ignatius College. Both games will be played in Cleveland. Western Reserve has always been noted for the snappy teams put out and there is every indication that they will provide plenty of opposition for the Blue and White.

St. Ignatius is another of those western colleges that can be depended on to provide a surprise for some of the eastern colleges and although perhaps not as well known as some of the larger colleges, they have a wealth of fine material to work with. Detroit will be the scene of a basket caging contest on Dec. 29 when Middlebury will play the strong University of Detroit team.

Student Govt. Hold First Meeting

The first meeting of the Student Government Association for this year was held in Old Chapel at four o'clock Monday afternoon. Martha Bolton, the president of the association, thanked the girls for sending her to Camp Wagna this summer and spoke with regret of the loss of one of the members, Muriel Barker, who died this summer. The Freshmen class remained after the meeting to hear the purpose of the association explained and to sign the constitution.

APPROPRIATE $7,100 FOR COLLEGE SPORTS

Large Increase Given To Basketball And Outing Club

Faculty Athletic Committee Plan Week-End Hikes To Near-By-Points

Appropriations aggregating $7,100 for athletics during the current year were announced yesterday by Edwin L. Bigelow, Graduate Manager of Athletics. Several large increases in the appropriations over those of last year were contained in the announcement, and appropriations for hiking and other sports were made. The various places to be visited by the hikers this fall were also made public.

The appropriations include $3,000 for football; $1,400 for baseball; $1,000 for track; $700 for basketball; $300 each to the Outing Club for winter sports, and to the Women's Athletic Association; and $200 each to the tennis and cross-country teams.

Basketball received the largest increase over last year's appropriation which amounted to $400. Together with the increase of $300 to basketball, goes a $250 increase to the Outing Club. The large increase in the latter appropriation was made in the belief that the outing club should be developed into an organization serving the entire student body. One fourth of the $300 appropriated for this work wlil be available for winter sports, while the remainder is to aid in financing the general activities of the organization. By increasing the appropriation this year, the Administration hopes to popularize the Outing Club as a unique but altogether profitable branch of Middlebury athletics.

May Have Basketball Coach

The increase in the basketball appropriation from $400 to $700 seems to indiate that a greater effort than ever wil lbe made to produce a winning team this year. The need of a coach for this branch of intercollegiate sports was evident last season, although Coach Brown did everything within the range of possibility to get the right combination working. It is possible that a coach may be secured for the coming season.

The Athletic Committee of the Faculty have arranged a series of afternoon and week-end excursions to many points of scenic and historic interest near Middlebury.Among the places already suggested are :Grandview, Beaver Brook Gorge, Beldens, Fort Cassin, Mount Philo, Chimney Point, Ticonderoga, Chapman's Mills, Ripton Gorge, Mooselamoo, Breadloaf, and the Long Trail in general.

Administration Aids Hikers

President Moody is thoroughly in sympathy with the hiking project, and

BLUE MAKES NINE FIRST DOWNS TO CRIMSON'S EIGHT BUT LOSES OPENING CONTEST IN STADIUM BY 20-0 SCORE

'Varsity Tore Crimson Line To Pieces in Third Quarter; Displayed Powerful Defense And Offense

OWEN STARS FOR CRIMSON TEAM

Captain Drost And Ashley Produce Winning Combination For Blue—Moynihan Grounds Seven In Ten Plays

Although scoring nine first downs to Harvard's eight and displaying a powerful defense and a still more powerful offense Middlebury was defeated 20 to 0 by Harvard in the Stadium at Cambridge last Saturday. The result was chiefly due to the lack of experience of several men and poor judgment on the part of the quarterback's when a successful play meant a score against the Crimson. The game was witnessed by more than 12,000 football fans and some of the men were naturally a bit "stage struck," playing their first varsity football before such a large gathering.

Time and again the Blue and White was well on the way to the Harvard goal line when it was checked by an intercepted forward pass. Four of the eight attempted aerials were intercepted by Harvard players at critical moments. Especially was this true in the third quarter when Middlebury pushed the Harvard team from the Blue and White eight yard line to within the 30 yard line of Harvard, only to have the lanky Pfaffman, substitute back for Harvard, intercept a Middlebury forward on his own 22 yard line and smash for 78 yards for a touchdown, the only one to be made by Harvard after the first period.

In spite of the fact that she lost Middlebury clearly demonstrated her strength and offensive power when in the third quarter she tore the Harvard line to pieces and pierced it for a distance of more than 60 yards, only to fail in an aerial attack.

Harvard received the kickoff. After a short plunge by Owens, Fitts skirted off to the right and wound his way through the Middlebury defense and had covered 37 yards before he was grounded by Papke, Blue and White quarterback. Owen then pushed through to the nine yard line and from this point the Crimson used four plays to score. Charley Buell kicked the goal after the touchdown. Harvard quickly followed with six more points when Owen and Fitts carried the ball to midfield where Owen punted to Middlebury's 15 yard line.

Drost And Ashley Gain For Blue

Drost and Ashley started the combination which began to gain for Middlebury while Klevenow caught Harvard's left line asleep and made a 15 yard dash before he was interrupted. Drost then took the ball but was stopped. In the next play Ashley

"On The Level"

"I want you to know that we are playing athletics 'on the level' at Middlebury."—Coach Morey.

Coach Morey's clear cut utterance in Boston last Friday, has done more for Middlebury College than probably the remarkable showing made by the 'Varsity eleven in the Stadium the following afternoon. But more than that, it gave Middlebury's team a prestige that could never have been obtained under any other conditions.

The surprising success of Centre College in defeating Harvard last fall, was marveled at when people realized that the little Kentucky college had but 250 men. The query was made as to ringers, and professionals, who participated in the game. People were frankly unable to understand Centre's success.

Such was the case last Saturday afternoon. When the little Blue team came on the field it was greeted with prolonged applause, and their every success was marked by a cheer from the 12,000 who witnessed the contest. The people in the Stadium realized tthat Middlebury, and Middlebury men were 'on the level' athletically; that they were there not to bring glory upon themselves, but upon the college they represented.

People are able to understand their sucess now, without any explanation. They are able to see why a little college in Vermont can have such a team, when they realize that its success is founded on fair play, and a willingness, on the part of eleven men, to give everything for the college and their teammates.

The opening contest of the 1922 season in the Stadium will long be remembered. The records of those who played, and of those who won and lost may be forgotten, but the work of the little Blue team, and the spirit in which they entered into the game will live. It is the Middlebury spirit.

Taking Account of Stock

In these modern days criticism of self and others is, apparently, the fashion. This is, of course, as it should be and furnishes a healthy stimulus to reform and to increased effort. But are there not moments when it is more appropriate in the general taking to stock, to overlook for a while our shortcomings, however obvious, and to dwell upon our achievements and consider our possessions.

Such a moment seems to be at hand, at this early stage of the year with a new class established among us. May we not pause and looking with justifiable pride upon the propitious outlook before us, take fresh courage for the year's work?

We should consider first the increased proportions of the college. Not only is the student body this year, the largest in the history of the college, but being chosen by a selective process, it forms an intellectual and moral elite. There is also the material growth in the erection of new buildings and the enlargement of the old, and the new additions to the faculty mean probable increase in academic facilities.

One of the alleged disadvantages of the college situated in a small community is its distance from the cultural opportunities found in a large city. This disadvantage has been largely overcome at Middlebury by the Entertainment Course which brings to the students the best in musical, oratorical and dramatic talent. This year's program with its added feature of The Players from the 47 Workshop, bids fair to be one of the most profitable and enjoyable experiences of the year.

With these few instances in mind, shall we not recognize as never before the high privilege of our presence here, and accepting the new responsibilities entailed in this privilege, help our Alma Mater on to new advancements.

Welcome

The Campus feels that it voices the sentiment of the whole student body in extending a hearty welcome to the new men and women who have been added to the faculty, and to the four new trustees who were elected in June.

The growth of the college alone would warrant an increase in the size of the faculty. But we see in this move as well as in other changes of administration which have been made for the current year, the systematic working-out of President Moody's plan of progress for Middlebury, by which the quality of the training given is not sacrificed for numbers of men trained. It is evident that an increase in the faculty permits more courses to be offered, allows more divisions to be formed under each course, and gives each professor a better opportunity to carry out his own ideas in his department. In these three ways, at least, the student receives the benefit and the standard of the whole college is raised.

Again, to the new Professors, and to the new members of the Board of Trustees ,the Campus bids welcome.

Middlebury has not been sending out its annual cry about the walloping the Green and Gold will receive at the hands of Midd this year."—Vermont Cynic.

You tell 'em, Mr. Cynic—Such a statement is not necessary, its simply taken for granted. The only thing that we have been delighted to learn was that Vermont was not able to sign up Jim Thorpe, due to his taking charge of some Indian team out West. The Cynic thinks that we have engaged Centre College team for this year and intend to beat 'em, but we've been wondering what Keady's traveling athletics will do when they have to head for the minors.

Ain't It So?

Frosh here are never lonely nor
Yet inclined to become bores—
For they are kindly cared for
By the gay young Sophomores.
Though they have many "parties"
From the day they leave the train—
There's none quite so good
As when they "pray for rain!"

Judging from the excuses which are offered by brilliant Frosh for not running an outsider would be led to believe that a Base Hospital was located here. Two thirds have weak hearts and the rest are suffering from four or five different varities of foot and leg diseases. We are still waiting to be told that one candidate for the brown derby is a chronic sufferer of Hoof and Mouth disease.

From the results obtained last year we were expecting quite an epidemic of Appendicitis. Apologies to Max Savitt.

While deep in the throes of Registration we happened to wonder how many would grab off their sheepskins if all seniors were required to write out the proper procedure for registration in the correct order. This is NOT a suggestion to the Curriculum Committee.

After viewing the congestion around the Treasurer's office several upperclassmen volunteered to help out if they could have all they could knock down from the young hopefuls of the Freshmen class in the form of Radiator Taxes, selling mattresses, Chapel seats, desks, etc.

Much Obliged

Many of the new arrivals have lamented the fact that Midd is without a swimming pool but the Sophomores have generously promised to take them to a place suitable for aquatics very, very soon.

Announcement in Chapel: "All students wishing to try out for the Women's glee club, report." Now we know where to send all those would-be songbirds who are perpetually disturbing the peace and domestic tranquillity of South Starr .

After viewing the other evening's festivities as a disinterested spectator, we firmly believe that the scripture was right when it said that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

25 ANSWER BROWN'S CROSS COUNTRY CALL

Ten Veterans Report—Coach Holding Daily Workouts on Triangle Course —First Meet Oct. 21

Twenty-five men answered Coach Brown's first call for Cross-Country candidates, and for the past week have been holding daily workouts on the Triangle course, preparatory to their meeting the crack Williams and R. P. I. harriers in Williamstown on Oct. 21. While prospects for the season appear to be bright, Coach Brown is not permitting over-confidence in his men to lead him to cutting down on the strenuous workouts.

Coach Brown has ten veterans of last year's squad working out, while thirteen first year men and two '25 men are trying out for the first time. Of last year's squad, Shelvey and Gray '23; Cook, Tully, Wexler and Kendall '24, Palmer, Cleveland, Cann and Hamlin '25, have returned. More candidates are reporting from the entering class than last year. They include Smith, Dodd, C. Hoyt, Fish, Montsdon, Robinson, Walcott, Chubb, Purdy, Dinkel, McNeil, Stewart and Lilly have reported. Bulbulian and Scott, both '25, are out for the first time this year.

Select Members Of College Choir

Thirty-seven were selected for positions in the college choir, Professor L. J. Hathaway, Director of the College Choir, anounced this morning. Nineteen of those chosen were members of last year's organization.

The selections for the semester are: Sopranos, Martha Bolton, Long, Bolger, Walsh, Helen Bolton, Bennett, Browning, Cowles, Caswell, Park, Prince, Saltmarsh; Altos, Blackburn, Baldwin, Taylor, Gaylor, Higgins, Howard, Spooner, Prentise, Sprague; Tenors, Coates, Hunter, Lorenzo, Herzig, Durkee, Brenton, Lobdell, Perrin; Basses, Dyer, Dube, Kalin, Watson, Allen, Carlson, Cooley and Watson, Allen, Carlson, Cooley, Lacy, and Spaulding.

Miss Slayton has been chosen as the accompanist for the coming year.

took a pretty forward from Papke and got to Harvard's 40 yard line before Buell stopped him. The play was declared null as one of the men on the right flank was offside. Another forward was tried but was taken by Gehrke on a running catch and he plunged ahead for several yards. Following a scrimmage on Middlebury's 38 yard line the Crimson started attacking once more. In two plays Harvard covered the 40 yards with Owen smashing through for a touchdown after which Buell failed to drop kick the goal.

The second quarter was all Middlebury's. At the outset of this quarter Coach Fisher started throwing in substitutes and immediately the Crimson started slipping. Harvard started with an advance of 48 yards by three first downs the last being on the Blue and White's 26 yard line. Here Churchill was put in for Owen. He made one good gain but slipped in a position to drop kick a goal and was thrown by Klevenow for a loss of 5 yards. Harvard lost the ball on the 27 yard line and incidentally her last sign of a punch faded into thin air. She had lost her steam; her strength had left the field.

Middlebury immediately got going, making a 20 yard gain on its side of the gridiron by a pass from Papke to Drost. Another pass was taken by Churchill and Rouillard Pfaffman was put into the Harvard lineup and made two center line rushes for first downs. Gallapher got Churchill for a 5 yard loss. Pfaffman got going but was stopped behind the line.

MURIEL BARKER DIES SUDDENLY

Prominent Member Of Senior Class Ill One Week—Burial In Unionville, Ct.

Miss Muriel Barker of the class of 1923 died at her home in Unionville, Conn., August 27th, as the result of an attack of quinsy which developed into a very serious heart trouble. The funeral service was held at her home, the Rev. Quincy Blakely of Farmington officiating. The burial was in Greenwood cemetery of Unionville At the close of the service at the house, Mr. Blakely read the following poem, Richard Watson Gilder's tribute to Alice Freeman Palmer.

"When fell, today, the word that she had gone,
Not this my thought: Here a bright journey ends,
Here rests a soul unresting, here at last
Here ends that earnest strength, that generous life,
For all her life was giving. Rather this
I said (after the first swift sorrowing pang)
Hence, on a new quest, starts an eager spirit,
No dread, no doubt, unhesitating forth
With asking eyes; pure as the bodliless souls
Whom poets vision near the central throne
Angelically ministrate to man;
So fares she forth with smiling Godward face;
Nor should we grieve, but give eternal thanks,
Save that we mortal are, and needs must mourn."

Miss Barker has been very prominent in college affairs during her course at Middlebury. She was a member of the Alpha Chi Sorority, was secretary of her class, 1919-1920, belonged to the Sophomore Rules Committee, the Glee Club, the choir, the Pan Hellenic Council, the W. A. A. Council, and took one of the leading roles in the Junior Class play.

Miss Barker is survived by one sister, Mrs. W. Kenneth Graham of Meriden, Conn., one brother, Francis S. Barker, a sophomore in the Unionville High School, and her father, the Rev. Franklin W. Barker, Pastor of the Cong'l church in Unionville.

The Campus is delighted to announe that a son, Willson Jolls Wiley, was born last Monday to Dean and Mrs. E. J. Wiley of 21 South St., and that the youngster weighs 9 pounds. The Dean, of course, is tremendously proud of his husky son and assures us that he will raise him to be a fullback.

WILLIAMS MEETS BLUE SATURDAY

Purple Wins Opener At Williamstown By 41-0

Both Teams Primed For Battle—Morey's Wards Ready For Contest General Informal Saturday

While Middlebury was giving Harvard one of the toughest battles she ever got from a small college in the Stadium, Saturday, Williams completely smothered Hamilton College at Williamstown. This is the same team which will trot out against Morey's hard-tackling line-up on Saturday at Porter Field. Because they won their first game so handily Williams will come up under a handicap. They did not have as hard a scrap as Middlebury did and from the standpoint of practice alone, it is always well to have one hard tussle under the belt before running into another.

All this week the squad will be put through a gruelling drill and by Friday will be in tip top shape and waiting for the whistle. Practice was open on Monday and will be so on Friday. Every one should avail themselves of this opportunity to come out and watch the team work out and show that they have the same old fighting spirit even if not privileged to wear the uniform.

The probable line-up in Saturday's contest for Middlebury will be: Klevenow, l. e.; Reigleman or Davie, l. g.; Kalin or Brosowski or Davie, l. t.; Moynihan, c.; Ehlert or Brosowski, r. t.; Kalin or Frank, r. g.; Gallagher, r. e.; Papke, Holquist or Williams, q. b.; Ashley, l. h. b.; Swartz or Daly, f. b.; Drost, Captain, r. h. b. Substitutes: Leary, Potter, Novotny, Kilbride, Jakway and Yeaw.

The probable line-up of the Williams eleven will be: Pease and Healy ends; Robinson and Laws tackles; Byers and Jones guards; Barnes center; Mallon quarter; Boynton (capt.) and Richmond halfbacks; Monjo fullback.

The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock. Plans for the student body to march to the field en mass will be announced in Chapel Saturday morning.

PREXY SPEAKS AT VESPER SERVICE

"Opportunities"—Theme of Opening Chapel Service—Urges Hearers To Be Faithful To Work — Text Exodus 4:2

President Paul D. Moody delivered the first Vesper sermon of the year in Mead Memorial Chapel last Sunday evening, taking for his text, the verse from Exodus 4:2—"What is that in thy hand?"

Dr. Moody urged each member of the student body to find the opportunities within their grasp in order that they might learn the lesson of the commonplace as Moses learned it. Nothing, he said, is ever so ordinary that it will not become changed when touched by God. Also, the most material things often give one the best chance to serve both God and our fellowmen.

The man who realizes that an opportunity is always before him, President Moody continued, and who takes advantage of that opportunity will succeed. Even the most material tools of the household, the often the most insignificant, if brandished thru the love of service, will enable "homes to be homes and families to be held together."

Finally, President Moody urged his hearers to endeavor to recognize their opportunities, and to do each task as well as possible, remembering that the Master of all workmen, surveys their every act and will judge them, not for the fineness of the task, but for the faithfulness with which it is performed.

ATHLETICS ON THE LEVEL HERE SAYS MOREY IN BOSTON

Men Not Induced To Come Here Coach Tells Reporter

TELLS SPORT AIMS

'Varsity Men Prefer To Meet Big College Elevens

Athletics of every kind at Middlebury are openly above board Coach David B. Morey strongly emphasized in an interview published in the Boston Transcript last Friday in which he set down the aims of Middlebury in football and other sports.

Coach Morey in the course of the interview said, "I want you to know that we are running athletics 'on the level' at Middlebury. There isn't a boy in the college who has received inducements that are not square and absolutely above board in every respect .Some of the members of the squad have received $80 scholarships and are given an opportunity to work. Our sports are on a strict, clean basis."

"Why do we happen to have so many Milwaukee boys in athletics at Middlebury? The answer is that a Middlebury graduate, who lives in that city, interested four boys in the college several years ago. Among this group were Barney Potratz, a 1921 tackle and Albert Golnick, last year's fullback. Now they have been graduated, but before leaving they took it upon themselves to interest other Milwaukee boys until there are now ten young men from that city in the college. Incidentally, Gollnick sails Tuesday for England, having won a Rhodes scholarship."

Commenting on the apparently stiff schedule of the team for this year Coach Morey said," The reason we have arranged a schedule which includes games with Harvard, Dartmouth, Penn State, Columbia, Tufts, Vermont, Williams and Norwich is that, frankly I would rather send my team against big strong teams than to arrange a schedule with small colleges that we could easily overpower. I feel that the boys will get more fun out of such a season, and that it is not asking too much to face such a list."

300 alumni and undergraduates were in the Stadium at Cambridge to see the Harvard-Middlebury game. About 75 attended the luncheon before the game.

JUNIORS ELECT NEW '24 KALEID STAFF

Parry And Austin To Have Charge Of Class Book—Will Retain Board

D. Haydn Parry '24 and Edgar T. Austin were elected to head the editorial and business staffs of the 1924 Kaleidoscope at a meeting of the Junior Class held in the Hemicycle last Monday afternoon. The elections were necessitated by the resignations of Norman H. Polhemus, as Editor-in-Chief, and of Lester E. Klimm, as Business Manager.

Mr. Parry, who is also Editor of The Campus and a member of the Wetherell Debating Club, comes from Cleveland, O. He is a member of Sigma Phi Iota and Tau Kappa Alpha, the national honorary forensic fraternity. Mr. Austin has been associated with the Press Club, and also the Wetherell Debating Club. He is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity, Tau Kappa Alpha, and the Sages.

It is expected that the new staff will retain the same board as that chosen last spring, with the exception of the Athletic Editor who was to have been Mr. Austin. This vacancy will be filled at the first meeting of the new staff, early next week.

The Cost of Football

(From The Offie of The Graduate Manager)

The following is an account of the expenses of the recent football trip to Harvard which should be of interest to the student body.

Railroad Fares, Middlebury to Boston and return	$374.40
Pullman Fares	12.50
Other Transportation	35.50
Dining Car Service	23.00
Hotel Expenses	501.10
Baggage Transfer	26.38
Medical supplies and services	5.05
Miscellaneous expenses	1.60
	$979.53

The guarantee received was sufficient to cover the expenses and leave a balance of a few dollars.

So far this season, in addition to this amount, the sum of six hundred seventeen dollars and thirty-nine cents ($617.39) has been actually paid out for the football season, and this does not include the training camp or all the supplies that have been ordered.

A sophomore party for the benefit of the Class of 1926 was held last night in front of the Mead Memorial Chapel.

WALPOLE TO SPEAK IN CHAPEL OCT. 12

"Psychology And Fiction" Topic Of Lecture

Prof. Cady To Give Reading In Old Chapel Tonight

Prof. Frank W. Cady of the Department of English, will read from the novels of Hugh Walpole to-night at 8 o'clock in the Old Chapel. Students and the public are invited to be present. Mr. Walpole is to speak in the Mead Memorial Chapel on Oct. 12.

Prof. Cady's lecture comes at an opportune time for word has just been received by Prof. William S. Burrage that Mr. Walpole will take as the subject of this lecture "Psychology and Fiction."

Many people are not familiar with the fact that Mr. Walpole is fully as wonderful a speaker as he is a novelist. It is said that he is exceptionally well fitted to discuss modern English novelists and their work but Middlebury will have a chance to judge for itself just how true that is. Some of his works are: "The Young Enchanted," "The Dark Forest," "The Green Mirror," "The Secret City," "Jeremy," "The Duchess of Wrexe," "Fortitude" and "The Golden Scarecrow."

Seats for the lecture may be obtained at the dormitories or at Frost's Drug Store beginning Friday, Oct. 6, at 50c each. All seats will be reserved.

Miss Madeline I. Gaylor, of the class of 1922, has returned to Middlebury and is assisting Professor Hathaway at the Music studio.

... ON 'VARSITY BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

...oit has come into its own in the ...ew years and has turned out ... really sensationally wonder teams ... every branch of athletics.Their teams of late have thrown a decided scare if not defeat into several of our supposedly strong eastern outfits and there is little doubt that this will be one of the hardest games of the trip. The outcome of this game will be awaited with interest for Detroit will stop off in Middlebury on Feb. 24, for a return game.

Meet Geneva Five New Year's Day

Mount Union College, another of the solid little western schools will be met on Dec. 30, at Alliance, Ohio. On New Year's day Geneva College, of Beaver Falls, Pa., will be the opponent of the Blue and White basketballers. That Geneva is a force to be reckoned with is indicated by the fact that she is appearing on the athletic schedules of several of the larger eastern colleges

On Jan. 2, Duquesne College will be the first of the teams to be tackled at Pittsburg and on the following night Carnegie Tech will be met in the Smoke City. Carnegie, in all probability, will be another tough assignment for the Blue and White as they have an unusually fine wealth of material to pick from.

Crimson And Blue Clash Jan. 5

Again working northward the team will play Trinity at Hartford, Ct., on Jan .4, and the Blue and White should have little difficulty in disposing of this outfit with a comfortable score. The following night will be a big one for Middlebury as the team will contend with Harvard at Cambridge on that date. It is safe to assume that Harvard will have a strong team and give the local cagers a real interesting contest. From Boston the Blue and White men will journey across the state to Amherst where they will play the Massachusetts Agricultural College team. The Mass. farmers have always been especially strong in the hoop game and gave Middlebury a setback last year.

On Jan. 10, Middlebury will return to familiar grounds and will meet Norwich University here in the second home game of the season. On Feb. 3, Middlebury will once more fare north when she will go to Winooski for a game with Michael's, another old rival. This will be followed three days later by a game in Williamstown with the Purple. This will be another nip and tuck fight and the result will mean much to both colleges.

Lowell Textile School will come here on Feb .14, whether it will be a Valentine for Lowell or Middlebury remains to be seen. St. Michael's will come here on the 17th for a game and on Feb. 22, Middlebury will go to Northfield to play a return game with the Northfield soldiers.

The return game with the University of Detroit will be played here on Feb. 24 and this game will be an unusually important one, due to the intersectional interest involved. No game has been carded for Feb. 27. The season will be wound up in customary style on Mar. 3, when the Blue and White journeys to Burlington to settle and age old argument with the Green and Gold.

A hike will be held tomorrow afternoon, starting from the Gym at 4 o'clock.

BLUE MAKES NINE FIRST DOWNS TO CRIMSON'S EIGHT

once more the Blue and White started a triumphal march down the field. They started a steam roller attack and rushed up the field in long jumps. The Harvard line did not rush but merely waited for the attack and then broke and was shoved to all corners of the field in front of the smashing Middlebury attack. Drost went through for 10 yards and again for an 8 yard gain and Daley immediately jumped through the Crimson line for 15 yards. It was one of those thrills that come once in a lifetime and Harvard was plainly unpleasantly thrilled by the manner in which things were going. Holquist took the ball near midfield for a 13 yard break and Ashley and Drost provided another first down on a forward by Ashley.

A first down on Harvard's 30 yard line and Daley went through for 5 yards. Middlebury set her hopes—from her 34 yard line a forward pass was shot, a little to the right. A Middlebury back just missed the ball which was seized by Pfaffman on the 25 yard line. His mad dash down the field was uninterrupted until he had covered the 75 yards and scored.

Middlebury started strong in the last quarter. Starting from the Crimson's 48 yard line she carried the ball to within 21 yards of the goal, Drost doing the real work. Middlebury was set back for 3 yards after a fumble on the first down. This loss was made up and 5 yards more gained on a fourth down. A forward pass failed and the ball went to Harvard on her own 16 yard line. This practically ended the game as Harvard's rushing game was simple and uneffective. The game closed with a penalty on Harvard for holding.

From start to finish it was a great game and Middlebury put up a stiff fight. Harvard used 22 substitutes and in many cases it was the first time they had tasted the fire of varsity football—they were badly scorched by bury made but 8 substitutions and her the Blue and White machine. Middlegeneral display of football far outclassed that put up by the Cambridge collegians. Only the alertness of a few Harvard players at critical moments saved the day for them.

Connie Moynihan at center proved to be a veritable Gibraltar on the defense and he showed a snappy variety of football throughout. In 10 consecutive plays he brought seven men to the ground. Gallagher played well at all times and Ashley and Drost played a consistent game and were the real stuff in carrying the pigskin for the Blue and White.

President Moody delivered an address at the Vergennes Public Library last Monday evening, on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of the founding of the library.

has promised the co-operation of the college in furthering the enterprise by aiding in the construction and an equipment of a lodge in Ripton Gorge or elsewhere on its properties where it may seem advisable. Such a lodge should be within easy hiking distance so that parties could make it easily in a day and return the next. These trips should take the place, to some extent at least, of the Breadloaf outing.

Announce Engagement

The engagement of Florence Millard '20, of Tarrytown, N. Y., to John King Cheesman '20, of Providence, R. I., was recently announced at the home of Miss Millard. Mr. Cheesman is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and Miss Millard is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Seventy Go On Season's First Hike

About seventy "Middites," under the leadership of Prof. Voter, Dean Wiley and Miss Young, left the gymnasium at 1:45 P. M. Saturday for the first hike of the season. They took the road to East Middlebury for about two miles, then went across country over two quite formidable mountains, at length reaching Chipman hill. Here Profs. Kleinspehn and Bonney, with Coach Brown served each weary traveller with refreshments of pink lemonade and "vanilla wafers." Then Middlebury songs were sung and cheers given for the team at Harvard, before the return trip.

Dean Wiley announced that there would be a hike on every Saturday afternoon when there is no game scheduled at Middlebury, also some mid-week hikes, and latter, some overnight trips.The second hike will probably be taken tomorrow afternoon.
